

Last Man Standing

Metropulse - Knoxville TN

12-14-2006

This past weekend, Scott Miller & The Commonwealth spent three nights at Johnson City's Down Home, a feet-on-the-furniture bar filled with wooden chairs, dust and history. The Knoxville legend and his crew were recording a live CD, and by the last show on Saturday, they were pretty confident they'd already hit the mark on most tracks recorded the previous nights. Thank God, 'cause after a pitcher or four of Newcastle during the show and some blackberry moonshine backstage with the boys, our vision was a little blurry.
